Canada; tenancy rules differ by province and territory · Reviewed 2026-10-03

Use your own quotes or estimates in CAD. Include taxes and fees in each amount yourself. This tool adds costs; it does not decide whether a deposit or charge is legal, or predict what a move usually costs.

Item	Amount (CAD)	Quote / payment date
Movers or vehicle hire
Packing and supplies
Travel and temporary accommodation
Rent due before moving
Deposits confirmed lawful locally
Utility or internet setup
Essential furnishings
Other moving costs
Cash buffer
Money available now
Total cash needed (costs + buffer)
Gap (needed – available)

Use your own quotes with taxes and fees included. No typical costs or automatic buffer. A positive gap means extra cash needed; a negative gap means available cash exceeds the entered plan. Check payment dates separately.

Payment dates and local deposit rules to check:

General planning, not legal or financial advice. No default buffer or typical prices. Deposits are counted as cash needed even if refundable. Exclude expected refunds until available; do not count a cost twice.
